Climbing the world's tallest building with only his hands and feet, Frenchman, Alain Robert could be called the real "Spiderman". Alain doesn't use any tools. He only uses his climbing ability and experience to conquer buildings.

Alain's climbing career began at the young age of 12 when he was locked out of his apartment.

Alain decided not to wait for his parents, he climbed the outside wall to get home - eight floors up.

In his climbing, Alain has had a few accidents, one time injuring himself after falling 15 meters.

Doctors told him that he wouldn't climb again, but he did, and today he's still climbing tall buildings around the world.
