Long time ago, in an old house lived an old man. His house made too much noise. The door creaked, the floor squeaked and the window made big “bang” sounds. These sounds disturbed his sleep. He asked a wise woman for help. She gave him a cow. It made moo-moo sounds every ten minutes. Therefore, the next day, the old man went back to the woman. This time, she told him to take a goat back. The goat, however, made maa-maa noise all the time and broke his table. The next day, the old man went back to the woman. She gave him a donkey. The donkey made noisy sounds with the cow and the goat. The old man put a pillow over his head and shouted “It is too noisy!” The next day, the woman came to the man's house and took the animals away. After they went away, the old man's house was quiet. That night, he had a good dream and never complained about his house anymore.

(A) There were many animals around his house and he hated it.
(B) He hoped to move to a new place without animals or noise.
(C) The old house was too noisy, so he couldn't have a good sleep at night.
(D) He liked animals and liked to live with them.
34 Which is TRUE?
(A) The old man asked the woman for help because he loved the animals.
(B) The woman gave the old man the cow, the donkey and the pillow to solve(解決) his problem.
(C) The woman didn't help the old man solve(解決) the problem.
(D) After three days, the old man didn't complain about his house anymore.
35 What are they?
(A) The door, the floor and the window.
(B) The cow, the goat and the donkey.
(C) The goat, the donkey and the pillow.
(D) The old man and the woman.
